FEAR BLOOD-SHED AT CONVENTION

Colby Selected to Conduct Fight for Anti-Klan Plank

Platform Committee Is Spending Much Time Drafting.

OPEN WITH PRAYER

W. J. Bryan Once More Prominent In Convention—Klan Question All That Now Hinders Progress.

By Associated Press.

NEW. YORK, June 28—Fearing great disorder and possible bloodshed, managers of the Democratic national convention today declined to discuss the Ku Klux Klan plank in the presence of crowded galleries and agreed upon a night session tonight from which everybody except delegates and newspaper men would be excluded. Talks of party splits on every side are heard. Threats of violence which caused authorities to pack Madison Square Garden and streets nearby with police and openly expressed fear that some blood might be spilled in heated discussion of religious issue caused convention managers to come to their decision. Great crowds packed convention at afternoon session. Leaders of both sides of the Klan question were fearful of demonstrations from gallery and possible charges of intimidation of delegates. The convention got under way at 4 o'clock. Report of the platform committee appeared soon afterward, minus two planks relative to League of Nations and Klan.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—At the final session the platform committee this afternoon the vote against naming Klan in platform was thirty-four to sixteen, the committee being unable to agree and the fight going to the convention floor.

Attracted by the prospect of a spectacular fight favored, thousands began early to jam the galleries of Madisonn Square Garden and no available seats remained at the hour set for convention. Leaders whose words might be influential on convention floors were late in arriving because of a preconvention conference during the wait for the session to begin. Smith people sent out scouts to sound out sentiment to delay Klan plank until presidential nominee shall have been selected. The opposition encountered coused them virtually to abandon the proposition.

The Klan and League of Nations planks then in proposed night session from which everybody would be excluded except delegates and newspaper men for those two planks to be decided. The plank on the Klan adopted by the committee for its majority report was the Bryan plank. Some amendments were offered but they were voted down. Bryan, it was definitely decided, would defend the plank on the convention floor.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Democratic party leaders failed today in their renewed efforts to reconcile differences over the Klan issue. Party chieftains, after more than two hours consultation, announced that the issue must be settled among the delegate themselves on the convention floor. Brainbridge Colby, Secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson, was selected to conduct the fight for the plank condemning the Klan by name. It appeared that William Jennings Bryan led the opposition, seeking general reaffirmation of the principles of religious liberty.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Responding [illegible] party leaders for more [illegible] the platform committee on [illegible] Klan Klan plank, the democ[illegible] national convention, after a [illegible] morning session, recessed until [illegible] this afternoon, tired and [illegible] continuous loss of sleep since Tu[illegible]. Chairman Cummings of the [illegible] committee gave the convention [illegible] dramatic recital explaining the [illegible] of the committee and [illegible] to reach an agreement. Cummings began by telling the convention that his subject "may in a large way affect the destinies of the party." He then recited how the subcommittee had been almost continuously in session since Tuesday. "I never saw a subcommittee which worked together in greater harmony. Every member worked faithfully to draft a platform commensurate with the opportunities of the party in this campaign. The platform will be ready for submission to this convention within a few hours and I think you will be proud of that platform and regard it as a winning one," he continued.

Apologizing for the weakness of his voice, Chairman Cummings said he had had only six hours of sleep since Tuesday. "I refer to this that you may know we have wasted no time. We dealt with all the questions before us except two in a way that met with apirpoval from every one of the fifty-four members of the committee. In those two instances there has been a difference of opinion.

"There was a difference as to the phraseology of the League of Nations plank but on that plank the majority report will carry the signatures of a large majority of the committee," he went on to say. "But these difficulties are but part of the story. There was one plank over which great difficulty arose. We discussed the plank all night until we adjourned at 6 o'clock this morning. I regret to say that, as the decision went on, it became more heated, ever became somewhat acrimonious and when we saw that the committee disagreed that way we began to wonder what would happen if the convention itself were asked to discuss that question.

"In orer words, we began to think of the democratic party. We thought of all that might be involved and then we got closer together around the council table, friends seeking to find the way so that the country might have the service of a united democratic party. In all the years that I have known political events, I have never witnessed such a scene as took place in the committee room at 6 o'clock this morning when we began to feel the spirit of fraternity again in our breasts. One of the members of the committee arose and recited the Lord's Prayer and then Mr. Bryan lifted his voice in a plea for divine guidance. At the unanimous request of the committee I asked that this great convention, in the interest of the party, adjourn until 3 o'clock."

There was a burst of applause from the convention which [illegible] Mr. [illegible] attention and when [illegible] question for a recess was put [illegible]

HELD IN DEATH KNOX COUNTIAN

Attendant Accused of Rough Treatment of Old Man in State Asylum.

LEXINGTON, June 28.—D. B. Barrett, an attendant at the Eastern State Hospital, was placed under arrest on the charge of assault and battery following the death of John Johnson, of Barbourville, 76-year-old patient who was brought to the institution by Barrett late Saturday afternoon. Bruises on Johnson's body aroused the suspicions of officials at the hospital that the patient had received rough treatment by at attendant.

Dr. Fred G. LaRue, superintendent of the hospital, wrote to officials at Barbourville and was told that Johnson was not treated roughly before leaving Knox county.

Tuesday Dr. LaRue received a letter from T. R. Purdy, a postal employe of the train which brought Johnson to Lexington, in which the writer stated that an older man in custody of a young attendant has been very roughly handled while in the baggage car on his train last Saturday.

Johnson's hands and face were scarred and an autopsy showed that he was also suffering from five broken ribs.

Barrett branded as false the charges against him and said he had not mistreated or brutally beaten the aged man, as charged by railway officials in a letter to Supt. Larue. Barrett claims the patient was beaten by Knox countians who took Johnson to the county jail at Barbourville

Tourists Have All Conveniences In Miniature Home on Wheels

Tourists who carry equipment for eating and lodging are becoming quite numerous and even those who maintain traveling homes are not so rare but the one seen in Middlesboro today is certainly the last work in traveling comfort.

It is really a completely furnished miniature home on wheels. There is the folding bed large enough for two occupants, a table which may be let down from the wall and convenient lockers for all kinds of necessities. The culinary department and the bath, however, are the novel features of the home. The tiny kitchen has running water [illegible] by a tank [illegible] small sink. [illegible] water is [illegible] small re[illegible] stock[illegible]

By pulling down the curtains on the rear platform a bath room is made. The shower is furnished by the same pressure which is used for the kitchen water. The back porch makes an ideal observation platform when the curtains are raised.

R. R. McChesney is in charge of the party, with him are his father, W. D. McChesney and I. B. McIntyre. The trio are traveling in the interest of the Wrigley company at present. They have been through every state in the union in their novel home and three provinces in Canada. They make the south during the winter and the north in the summer. Present State Title Holder Slated As the Favorite.

IS LEADING THREE UP

Tachau Victim of Several Bad Breaks—First Try In the State Tournament Finals.

John Marshall, present amateur champion of Kentucky, was leading Lewis Tachau, also of Louisville, at the end of eighteen holes of the thirty six holes finals of the fourteenth annual state championship tourney at the Middlesboro Country Club today.

It is the first time Tachau has played in the finals of a state tourney and he aroused the cheers of the gallery on the second nine holes this morning by leveling the match, after being three down, by winning the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth holes in rapid succession.

Analysis of the play of the finalists in the morning round favors the champion. His iron shots have been superb and he has the faculty of coming through with pinch-hitting golf when faced with a crisis. Tachau missed several easy shots but was also the victim of a few bad breaks, especially during the first nine holes.

Marshall has been seven times in the finals of the state championship, or every time he has entered the event. In the twenty-seven matches he has played in the state title events, Marshall has won twenty-four. He won the state title last year from Chris Brinke of Louisville, in the tourney played at the Louisville Country Club.

Tachau until this year has seemed to be jinxed in state tourneys, progressing to the semi-finals several times only to meet defeat. He recently won fame in the Southern Amateur by carrying Charley Black, of Atlanta, to the twenty-fifth hole to win, setting a new American record for extra hole matches.

No. 1, 615 yds. Par 5—Drives alike and both clear creek with their seconds. Marshall's long mashie trickled along the edge of the green. Tachau was also on and on the far side in three. They rolled up for birdie fives.

No. 2, 425 yds. Par 4.—Tachau badly topped his drive. Marshall's tee shot was level with the 250 yard marker. Tachau sliced into the creek with his second. He was forced to play another but was short of the green. Marshall laid his second shot just in front of the green. He ran up for a safe four and Tachau conceded the hole. Marshall one up.

No. 3, 415 yds. Par 4—The drives were on a line. Tachau's iron was short but Marshall also misjudged his second. Marshall laid his chip six feet from the cup. Tachau overshot his third and barely missed holing in four. Marshall's try for a win rimmed the cup and they halved in fives. Marshall one up.

No. 4, 286 yds. Par 4.—Tachau had the longest drive but topped his second and looked up badly on his third and was still off the green. Marshall was on in two, rolled up for a safe three and holed a two foot put to win in four. Marshall two up.

No. 5, 385 yds. Par 5.—Tachau hooked his drive into a clump of trees the ball rolling under a stump. Marshall's drive was long and true and Tachau conceded the hole. Marshall three up.

No. 6, 282 yds. Par 4.—The hole was halved in fours after Tachau laid Marshall a dead stymie. The drives and approaches were [illegible] Marshall three up.

No. 7, 433 yds. Par 4.—Tachau won the hole with a pretty second shot eight feet from the pin. Marshall was on the green in two but at the far corner. Tachau rolled up for a safe four. Marshall's [illegible] for a half rimmed the cup. Marshall two up.

THE EXAMPLE OF KANSAS

If there is anything the matter with Kansas, the malady certainly has nothing to do with that State's aggressiveness and determination to make a mark for itself. For example and to-wit: In 1925 every automobile, passenger or truck, will carry a license tag on which will be printed this slogan: "Kansas Grows the Best Wheat in the World."

Something like 350,000 motor cars, many of which will travel to distant points, will proclaim the excellence of Kansas wheat wherever they go. The wheat slogan will also be used on official stationery, including that of the governor, and a movement is under way to have it appear on stationery of private corporations. Of course, the millers will emblazon the slogan on their flour sacks.

That is a sample of Western progressivism which might appear a little blatant and lacking in dignity to some, yet which will assuredly be beneficial for Kansas wheat farmers. Before the year is over, few people in the United States but will be reminded of Kansas when they think of wheat.

Kentucky has been called the best advertised State in the Union, and from certain angles it is. No greater advertisement was ever written than Stephen Foster's song. The brilliance of the Kentucky racehorse is proverbial. Kentucky mountain stories are read by everyone. Kentucky's fame, however, is largely confined to matters of romance and sentiment which would be very well if this was still the Age of Chivalry instead of the Age of Economic Power.

If Kansas can boast of growing the best wheat in the world, Kentucky need by no means be behindhand in saying that its tobacco is unsurpassed. By promoting the cause of Kentucky tobacco, the welfare of a great part of the State's population is promoted. Again, if Kansas can talk of its wheat, Kentucky can talk with equal vehemence of its coal. Not only does the State possess one of the richest stores of this invaluable mineral, but a great deal of it is of the highest quality.

And so on down the line. Kentucky has a great deal to talk about in the way of the things it produces to make the world go round. It's all right for the State to arouse interest and sentiment because of the romance attached to it, but it would be much more valuable if a campaign were conducted to tell the world that Kentucky is not only worthy of the tears that flow when "The Old Kentucky Home" is sung, but it is also an extremely important factor from the economic standpoint.

A practical clergyman in a backward country community once told his parishioners that he would talk to them less about hell-fire and brimstone and more about clover and limestone. Kentuckians should talk more of steel and tobacco, and less about mountain feuds and the history of the past.—Louisville Post.

Stock is Nuisance

Editor Daily News: Stock of every description is still being allowed to annoy every one in Binghamtown, mostly at night after these people have said their prayers and lain down to rest. The cowbell makes them sleep and dream that the cows are inside and eating up their gardens.

The police station has been called several times and several of them could come "right then." Several of the people here were notifed by the city board of equalization that their property had been raised and protests of no stock law, no water, no free delivery, no police protection or anything else has had any effect on the grim board.

Roger Hornsby Out to Set New National League Record

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 28—Rogers Hornsby, batting champion of the National league, and star second baseman with the St. Louis Cardinals, today is out to establish a new National league record, by leading the circuit in hitting for the fifth consecutive year.

With the season approaching the half way mark, Hornsby is continuing the pace he set at the opening. He is slapping the ball at a .397 clip. Hornsby already has equalled the famous record of Honus Wagner, who led the National league batsmen for four consecutive years in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1909. The St. Louis player took the lead and held it in 1920, 1921, 1922 and 1923. Wagner's best mark was .380, and Hornsby bettered this with .401 in 1922.

Hornsby has made 7 home runs, two during one game against the Cubs, Snyder, New York, is closest to Hornsby with .383; Wheat, Brooklyn, follows with .380; Kelly, New York, .376 and Fournier, Brooklyn .351. The latter now has 14 home runs, while Babe Ruth, champion home run hitter, has 18. The figures include games of Wednesday.

Other leading batters are: Frisch, New York .313; Grigsby, Chicago .338; Harnett, Chicago .336; Bressler, Cincinnati .329; Roush, Cincinnati .325; Grimes, Chicago .325; Grantham Chicago .324; Williams, Philadelphia .323; Young, New York .320; Tierney, Boston .314; Johnston, Brooklyn .314.

American League

In the American league, Jamieson of Cleveland is leading the pack with .362, followed by Babe Ruth with .360 and Ty Cobb of Detroit third with .355.

With Harry Heilmann of Detroit hitting the toboggan, a slight shake-up resulted among the leading hitters, but it did nto effect the contenders as much as those hanging on the fringe of batting respectability. McNelty of Cleveland, who figured as a dangerous hitter a few days ago, fell out of the picture with even greater speed than Heilmann.

Ken Williams of St. Louis, however, seems to have connected with a new grip and is edging towards the top with an average of .349. Ruth has shown consistently stick work all around. He has a total of 18 homers, having added two within a week, while Williams also connected with a pair, giving him a total of fourteen.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox and Williams speeded up on the bases, Collins swelling his total to fifteen. Williams is trailing with fourteen. Cobb is edging up on Ruth for honors in scoring, Ruth showing the way with 53, while the Tiger leaders has scored fifty times.

Other leading batters: Boone, Boston .355; Falk, Chicago .354; Goslin, Washington .349; Harris, Boston .347; Meusel, New York .346.

American Association

"Reb" Russell, slugging outfielder with Columbus, furnished the sensation of the American Association, going on a batting rampage that drove him up among the leaders. He also started his home run bat to working for an additional four circuit smashes, giving him a total of twelve, three above Smith of Louisville. Russell is eighth in the list of leading hitters with an average of .348.

Apparently Neun of St. Paul, pace maker in batting almost since the start of the season, is finding the going rough. He is still leading the parade with .402, but failed to add a single stolen base to his collection of twenty-six. Bunny Brief of Kansas City, is hanging on to second place in batting with an average of .382.

Christenson of St. Paul is showing the way to the plate with 71 runs to his credit, but is hotly pursued by Neun, who has scored 68 times.

Other leading batters: Dressen, St. Paul .374; Shannon, Louisville .375; Maguire, Toledo .366; Allen, Indianapolis .351; Lamar, Toledo .349; Smith, Minneapolis .338; Christenbury, Indianapolis .336; McCarthy .333; Scott, Kansas City .332.

Western League

Attempting to eclipse Babe Ruth's home run record seems to have been the object of the Western League hitters this week. It is noted that Davis of Tulsa leads the procession with 18, a gain of four within a week, while right behind him is Washburn, a team mate, who smashed out three for a total of eighteen. Cullop of Omaha, who dropped out of the batting lead, decided to take a few shots at home run hitting himself, and wound up the week with four, giving him a total of fifteen.

When Cullop fell out of the batting lead, Austin of Tulsa, moved to the top by adding 19 points for an average of .416. Cullop is second with .413. Dunning of Wichita is third with .392.

While the batters were out to make a record, Smith of Wichita added four stolen bases to his collection, giving him 23 for the leadership, with Corrigan of St. Joseph, second with seventeen.

Other leading batters: Lelivelt, Tulsa .387; Miller, St. Joseph .384; Lamb, Tulsa .377; O'Brien, Denver .365; Lauderus, Oklahoma City .355; Ginglardi, Denver .352; Robinson, Omaha .351; Washburn, Tulsa .342.

Southern Association

After a long seige, Lapan of Little Rock was tumbled out of the batting leadership of the Southern Association, with the pace making honors going to Smith of Atlanta, Smith is batting .387, with Lapan trailing three points behind him.

In the general shake-up of the batters, Marriott of Mobile added three to his base stealing record, giving him a total of twenty-three, six more than Stewart of Birmingham can show. Paschal of Atlanta, however, still clings to the home run honors, leading the field with eleven, while Rose of Chattanooga is second with ten.

Other leading batters: Williams, Mobile .354; Burrus, Atlanta .354; Paschal, Atlanta .353; Carlisle, Memphis .351; Stewart, Birmingham .350; Barber, Little Rock .349; Taylor, Memphis .340; Guyon, Little Rock .340; Knode, Birmingham, .337; Tucker, New Orleans .337.

Successful Box Supper In Binghamtown

The box supper at Binghamtown last night, given in the interest of the Union Tannery baseball team, was a success. A tie resulted between Miss Lulu Bunch and Miss Gladys McWilliams as to which was the prettiest girl, the prize, a pound cake, being divided between them. The ball team here now feels in high spirits. Lloyd Jones was elected manager and Than Barton was made captain of the team.

FOR THE PREVENTION OF SIMPLE GOITER

Recommended by the Director of Public Welfare City of Richmond

April 19, 1924

"The routine use, both for cooking and at the table, of salt to which a small portion of sodium iodide (Iodine) has been added, seems to be the most practical method of securing for the system of growing children that amount of iodine which has been shown to be essential in preventing the development of goiter."

E. C. LEVY, M. D.
Director of Public Welfare City of Richmond

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT

The prevention of simple Goiter is commanding the attention of health authorities in many parts of the country where the affliction is endemic. Particular efforts are being made to protect school children, for it is known that simple Goiter is most prevalent during adolescence. If boys and girls receive sufficient iodine in their food until they are 17 or 18 years of age they will certainly be immune from simple Goiter. It is the lack of iodine in food or the water supply that causes thyroid enlargement, or goiter. At the suggestion of health authorities Mulkey's Iodine Salt has been produced and can now be obtained by every family. It is to be used the same as ordinary salt, for cooking and on the table.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

You will make no mistake in using a table salt that is officially recommended for goiter prevention.

Our Pamphlet on Goiter tells all about it; write for a Free copy.

Bishops Issue Statement Opposing Methodist Merger

Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 28—Declaring that "the matter before the church at this time is not unification in general, but a particular plan which should not be considered upon a mere impulse of sentiment," a joint statement issued here by Bishops Warren A. Candler, Collins Denny, U. V. W. Darlington, W. N. Ainsworth and James E. Dickey, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, asserted that however attractive may be some possible conception of unification with northern branch, it does not follow that the pending plan would fulfill the purpose."

"It has been constantly declared," the statement said "that the chief ends of unification are to remove irritating competitions," prevent overstepping and duplication of owrk by two churches, save the needless expenditure of men and means, eliminate unseemly friction and arrest the erection of altar against altar."

"But none of these desirable objects does this plan purpose to accomplish; on the contrary these objectionable conditions are expressly continued by it. * * *

"It must be borne in mind that the northern jurisdiction will be co-extensive with the United States, while the southern jurisdiction will be restricted to the south and west where the Methodst Episcopal church, south, now is. The northern jurisdiction will be unlimited and will cover the southern jurisdiction like a blanket. * * * *

"It is claimed by advocates of the plan under it tere will be a voluntary merger of competing churches and conferences after the two churches are united under one name. What inspired the original organization northern churches in Dallas, Houston, New Orleas, Louisville, Nashville, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Miami and Tampa It was the desire for northern fellowship northern views and northern money to aid their enterprises and the very same things that controlled in the original organization will induce these established congregations to maintain the same relation in the new church. Similar reasons will control many southern Methodists in border territory, and where outside pressure to unite becomes insistent, many Methodists will quietly withdraw and unite with other churches.

"It must be noted that the plan affects the repeal of the plan of separation, adopted in 1844 by an overwhelming majority of the general conference of the undivided church, and pronounced valid and binding by the supreme court of the United States.

"Our southern brethren undertake to justify their unceasing infraction of this plan by stating that conditions have altered since its adoption. To this it is suffivent to reply that no change of situation can nullify a contract once rightly made.

"If the plan of separation by which we hold all the property belonging to the church, south, obtained prior to 1844, be repealed to what substitute for it can we look, and upon what can we depend?

"Moreover, the plan proposes a solution to the negro not best for him and not possible for us. * * * * It calls for the acceptance by our people of two negro bishops. * * *

"We object to this plan because it denides the annual conference of their powers. * * * Our brethren have never been willing and they ought never to be willing to turn over their rights and duties to the general conference."

The Reign of the Poppy.

An Oriental Poppy
With a vivid scarlet head
Has tried to play the Monarch
In my garden flower bed.

It towers there so stiffly
And its single inky eye,
With fringe of curly lashes,
Gazes upward at the sky.

A clump of feathered June pinks
Are blossomed at its feet,
And permeate the garden
With an atmosphere that's sweet.

The buds are nearly open
On the rosebush by the gate
The Poppy doesn't know it,
For its head is held in state.

Oh! lovely, haughty flower,
Don't you be so cold and proud;
A day or two you're regal,
But your head will then be bowed.

With all your silken beauty
You will never be as fair
As dainty little June pinks
In the scented gowns they wear.

And now the Queen of Roses
Has come here to rival you,
With just as bright a color,
And the gift of fragrance, too.

"The Man Next Door" At Manring Tonight

The story deals with life on a ranch and in society in a city. The contrasts in background and environment offered by these two distinctly different locations gave Director Schertzinger the broadest opportunity in filming a variety of scenes and sets.

The action in the West was shot at Palto Verdi ranch, in Southern California, one of the few remaining open range grazing ranches in the country. The owners of the ranch placed at the disposal of the director for use in scenes their staff of cow-punchers, as well as the 5,000 head of cattle on the ranch.

Emerson Hough's picture tells the story of Bonnie Bell Wright, the motherless daughter of a wealthy cattleman, who is reared by her father and Curly, the foreman. She becomes a tomboy, quick with the lariat, as good a rider as any of the cowboys, and it is not until she is sixteen that her father realizes that she is after all a daughter and not a son. Bonnie Bell is sent to a finishing school in the East, and upon her return Old Man Wright decides to move to the city, where she may enjoy the pleasures of society.

Bonnie Bell builds a mansion next door to Mrs. Wisner, the leader of the city's smart set, but the child learns that riches alone will not obtain entree for her. She makes friends with the gardener employed by the family next door.

Bonnie Bell's pet terrier breaks up a bridge party in the Wisner home, and Mrs. Wisner has a spite wall erected between the two houses. The romance of Bonnie Bell and the young gardener and how they find happiness without riches makes this story one of the most human screen comedy dramas ever offered.

Lovers of Emerson Hough's stories will not be disappointed in the magnificent production and intelligent and honest picturization of "The Man Next Door."

Divorces Interest Potsdamers

By Associated Press.

POTSDAM, Germany, June 27.—An epidemic of divorces has broken out in Potsdam, once the home of German royalty and still the place of residence of several of the former Kaiser's sons and other members of the nobility. In one day recently 27 divorces were granted by Potsdam courts, a number, it is said, that is precedent for all Germany.

Texas Lady Says Her Family Has Been Taking Thedford's Black-Draught, When Needed, for Many Years.

Alto, Texas.—"We inherited the use of Black-Draught in our family," says Mrs. Mary Shuptrine, who lives near here on R. F. D. 2. "My grandmother was an old woman when she died about ten years ago, and she had been using it literally ever since I can remember. She gave it to her children and grandchildren for biliousness and stomach complaints, so when I went to housekeeping we just naturally used it, too.

"I give it to my children for a purgative whenever they need one, and we are never without it. Made into tea, it surely is fine. It's the best home remedy for headache and constipation I know of."

During over 80 years of its continued popularity, Black-Draught has become the standard liver medicine in many thousands of homes, where it has been found of great benefit in the treatment of constipation, biliousness, indigestion and other common liver, stomach and bowel complaints. Ten million packages of Black-Draught are now sold a year, as more and more people are learning of the value of this well-known remedy.

Insist on Thedford's, the only genuine Black-Draught powdered liver medicine. At all dealers'. NC-154
